THE BAGPIPE

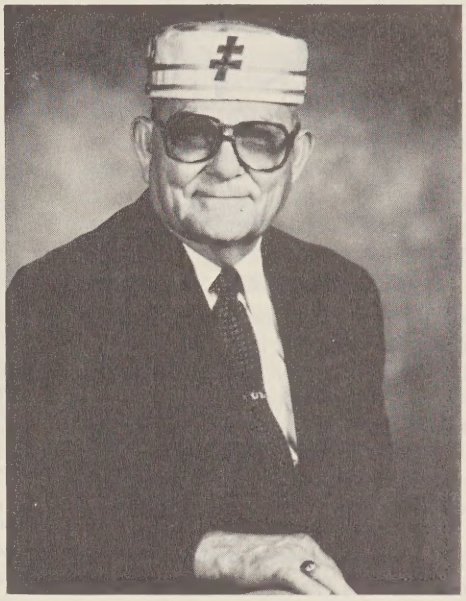
SECRETARY'S PAGE



My Brothers:

The "Next Reunion" has come and gone and what a joy it was to all of us. Again our Ambassadors, Scottish Rite Clubs, Membership Committee and brethren all combined to make this tribute to our beloved Nelson B. Banks a thing of beauty, something to remember. It was a fitting tribute to him who gave so much of himself to the cause of Freemasonry. This was one of the best and largest classes of candidates we have had in several years.

This class just did not come together here in New Bern for the degrees. They were brought here by you, by your efforts in promoting Scottish Rite Masonry. It was you who told your brother Masons about our Order and the wonderful three days that could be theirs in New Bern during the Reunion. What a job you did! The Valley of New Bern is indeed fortunate to have so many loyal, knowledgeable and devoted members.

We were delighted to have several wives of the candidates with us on this occasion. They contributed immeasurably to the three wonderful days we had here together. Their fellowship made the occasion a real festival. We are so grateful to them for being a meaningful part of our Reunion. Reports reaching us indicate that they, too, enjoyed their stay with us. Please note some of the comments printed elsewhere in this issue of THE BAGPIPE.

We know that the "Next Reunion" was a tremendous success but we also know that we can never rest upon our laurels. My Brother, now is the time to think about the November Reunion. We must have candidates for it. Prospects are good. The Blue Lodges are active. They are having an unusually large amount of degree work. Reports indicate that most lodges are raising more Master Masons than in previous years. These, as you know, are our life blood.

By the time this issue goes out many of you will be thinking vacation. We here in the office wish for you one of the best summers ever. May the Good Lord bless and prosper you every day. May your vacation be the best ever. We will not forget you - please don't forget us.

Fraternally,

Charlie Potter

Charlie Potter, 33°

EXPERIENCE

We must live through the weary winter
If we would value spring.
And the woods must be cold and silent
Before the robins sing.
The flowers must be buried in darkness
Before they can bud and bloom,
And the sweetest and warmest sunshine
Comes after the storm and gloom.
So the heart, from the hardest trial,
Gains the purest joy of all.
And from the lips that have tasted sadness,
The sweetest songs will fall.
For as peace comes after suffering,
And love is reward of pain,
So, after earth comes heaven,
And out of our loss, the gain.

Speaking in Quotes: There is only one beautiful child in the world and every mother has it.

I told Mary I wanted to be surprised for dinner, so she soaked the labels off the cans.

This sign on a New York service station: "We collect taxes - federal, state and local. We also sell gasoline as a sideline."

Speaking with the Ladies: No wonder women live longer than men. Look how long they are girls.

About the only time a woman really succeeds in changing a male is when he's a baby.

Sitting silently at the bar, the man sipped his drink, while on his face was an expression of extreme sadness.

"George," asked a friend, "What in the world is the matter?"

"Oh, I'm having troubles with my wife," George explained.

"What happened?"

"Well, she told me she wasn't going to speak to me for thirty days."

"But," his friend objected, "that ought to make you happy."

"It did," George answered, "but today is the last day."

At a dinner party, two women had just been introduced to each other.

"Oh, yes," said one of them very sweetly. "We met two years ago at the Johnson's - I'm terribly bad at remembering names, but I never forget a dress."

Sergeant: "Did you give the prisoner the third degree?"

Officer: "Yes, we browbeat him, badgered him, and asked him every question we could think of."

"So?"

"He dozed off and merely said, "Yes, dear, you are perfectly right."

Speaking in Jest: A German and a Russian were fishing on opposite sides of the river. The German caught fish after fish, while the Russian didn't even get a bite. Finally the Russian yelled across, "Why is it you catch fish and I get none?"

The German thought a minute and then replied, "I guess on your side they are afraid to open their mouths."

Two fellows were discussing their dreams and one said to the other: "Sam, did I ever dream last night - what a dream! I went to Coney Island, went on the chute-the-chute, had frank-furters and popcorn, took in all the side shows - it was the greatest dream in the world."

The other fellow said, "You're kidding. That's a dream? I had a much better one last night. I dreamed I went to a party, and I had Kim Novak on one arm and Jayne Mansfield on the other."

The first fellow said, "Gee, why didn't you call me?"

"I did," replied the other, "but your wife said you had gone to Coney Island."

The fellow had spent his entire life studying goldfish. At a meeting of the Goldfish lovers of America he was asked how one could tell the difference between a male goldfish and female goldfish.

"That's simple," said the man of knowledge. "Male goldfish will eat only male worms."

"But how," persisted the questioner, "can you tell the difference between male worms and female worms?"

"Haven't the slightest idea," he replied. I'm not an expert on worms . . . just goldfish."

A group of golfers were putting on the green. Suddenly a ball dropped in their midst. One of the golfers winked at the others, and with his foot shoved the ball into the hole.

A few seconds later a very fat fellow came up to the hole, puffing and out of breath.

"Didja see the ball?" he asked anxiously.

The men said: "Yes."

"Where is it?"

It went in the hole."

The fat man looked at them unbelieving, walked up to the hole, reached down, picked up the ball. He gazed at it in astonishment, then ran down the fairway and at the top of his lungs shouted, "Hey, Joe. I got a nine."

A. C. "Jack" Honeycutt Elected Grand Master of Masons in North Carolina

Ava Clarence "Jack" Honeycutt was born March 16, 1925, in the Wakefield Community of Wake County. He was one of seven children - four sons and three daughters - born to the late Ava L. and Donie Honeycutt. (All four of the sons were later to become Masons.)

In 1932 the family moved to Raleigh and Jack received his education in the public schools there. Drafted into the Army during World War II, he spent three years of military service in the Continental United States. The night before he was to be shipped overseas, some boys in another outfit engaged in some brawling and the result was their outfit and not Jack's shipped out the next day.

Following Army discharge at San Francisco, he returned to Raleigh and became involved in the Dry Cleaning business with his brother. In 1975 he purchased his brother's business and today operates three Dry Cleaning plants in Raleigh. Jack has served on the board of directors of the North Carolina Cleaners and Launderers Association, serving as President of that association in 1975-76. He is secretary-treasurer of Raleigh Cleaners and Launderers Association.

On June 28, 1947, Jack married Margaret Council, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Council. Jack and Margaret have three children.

Their daughter, Deborah, is the oldest. She married Dennis Whorley and they have two children, Drew and Beth.

Another daughter, Jackie, married Lynn Walton, presently one of the Stewards in William T. Bain Lodge No. 231 at Raleigh, Route 3. They also have two children, Scott and LeAnne.

Jack and Margaret have one son, Tim, who works with his father.

The Honeycutts are active members of Samaria Baptist Church, in Raleigh, where Jack has served as a Sunday School teacher, as Superintendent, and as a Deacon. He has been Treasurer of the Church since 1960.

On June 17, 1953, Jack became a Master Mason in Hiram Lodge No. 40, in Raleigh. His father-in-law, M. C. Council, coached him during the degrees and was a tremendous inspiration to him. Council, Secretary of Green Level Lodge No. 277 for many years, was one of the first North Carolina members to be presented the Diamond Jubilee Sixty-Year Award.

A. C. "Jack" Honeycutt

Jack served Hiram Lodge as Coaching Chairman and was Master in 1967. He also served a full term as D.D.G.M. of the Twenty-Fourth District.

Active in the Grand Lodge for many years, he was for a time the Housing Chairman that assisted so many members from all over the state in procuring rooms for the annual communication. He later became General Chairman of the annual communication, having the responsibility to see that all activities went smoothly forward. In 1972, Grand Master William C. Mims presented him the Joseph Montfort Award in recognition of his lengthy service to the Grand Lodge.

In 1976, Grand Master Leslie H. Garner appointed Jack to a Grand Steward's seat, and he has since progressed steadily through the Grand Lodge line. In April of 1981, he reached the second highest Grand Lodge office, that of Deputy Grand Master, and began then to prepare himself for the duties he would assume a year later, should he be elected Grand Master. But less than nine months later, on January 2, 1982, those duties were suddenly and unexpectedly thrust upon him when Grand Master Nelson B. Banks was fatally stricken while on a trip to the western area of the state. By our Masonic law, as Deputy Grand Master, Jack was required to assume the Grand Master's duties a full three months before he might logically expect to do so.

He has served the Grand Lodge and its 73,000 Masons extremely well during those three months, thus providing a sure indication of what the lodges and Masons of North Carolina may expect during this Grand Lodge year - strong leadership within an environment of Brotherly Love and Fellowship.

Our newly-installed Grand Master has been active in other Masonic fields.

He is a member of the Raleigh York Rite Bodies. In the Raleigh Scottish Rite Bodies, he was invested Knight Commander of the Court of Honour in 1979 and was elected to the Thirty-Third Degree in 1981. He also holds membership in Saint John of Patmos, Red Cross of Constantine; North Carolina York Rite College No. 69; Bannockburn Council No. 125, Allied Masonic Degrees; Hard Cross and Eagle Council No. 3, Knight Masons of the U.S.A.; and North Carolina College, Sociatas Rosicrucianna in Civitatibus Foederatis. As a long time member of Sudan Shrine Temple he has served it as Ambassador, as Housing Chairman, and as a member of the Bowl Game Committee. He is an associate member of Amran Shrine Temple. He has served as President of Wake County Shrine Club and was one of those instrumental in starting the "Wake County Fish Fry" to raise funds for crippled and burned children.

Jack has been elected to honorary membership in the following lodges: Mingo 206, Garner 701, Apex 584, Green Level 277 and Masters 754.

And he still finds time to play a little golf and to occasionally slip off to the coast for a little fishing.

SOMETHING ELSE

Reynold Davenport

We have all kinds of get-rich-quick contests nowadays, which isn't something really new, we've always had them. Of course, many years ago the prizes you were told you could win were nothing to compare with those ranging up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars they dangle before you today. I can remember fabulous prizes of fifty - even a hundred -dollars during the depression. And they had contests for kids, in which it was promised the winner would win a pony, or a bicycle.

The old salve-selling gimmick has hooked many a youngster in years gone by. It started off with a little puzzle in a newspaper, or a magazine. It was a real easy puzzle that even a moron could solve. So you filled in the correct answer and mailed it to the salve company, then you went all around the neighborhood promising select friends they could ride in your pony when it came.

But it didn't work that way. The company wanted more proof of your worthiness to win a pony, a requirement you could meet by selling a dozen bottles of their salve. If you sold that dozen, the company decided you needed to sell yet another dozen in order to absolutely convince them you were the boy for that pony. It was amazing the amount of skepticism displayed by the salve company, and the amount of salve you needed to sell to dispel their fears.

There was a boy in Mackeys, where I grew up, that solved the puzzle, sold his dozen bottles of salve, sold another dozen, and another dozen . . . he peddled salve so long and so vigorously that he came to be the most unpopular kid for miles around. I expect there are some people in Mackeys that still have some of that salve.

Anyway, he got mad, and he wrote to the salve company and demanded his pony. And his parents wrote to the salve company. And there was a woman that had bought enough salve from that boy to lubricate a cotton gin that wrote to the company. So the company wrote the boy a letter and told him he had indeed proven himself to be a most worthy and industrious person, and that the pony was being shipped that very day by railway express. So he started meeting every train that came through Mackeys - looking for his pony. But the pony didn't come. It never did come, and if the railroad hadn't quit handling express, I reckon that boy would still be meeting the trains.

There ought to be a special place down below for those salve companies.

I remember hatching up my own get-rich-quick propositions. For instance:

I have heard farmers lay cussings on mules that left traces of blue smoke drifting around for an hour, and it didn't do a bit of good. The mules didn't understand what they were saying, you see, and went right on being mulish.

Likewise, I had heard hunters make some right derogatory remarks to deer hounds that went traipsing off after rabbits. The hounds could tell that everything was not peaches and cream, but it wasn't really clear to them why.

The things people used to say to chickens that got out of the lot were instructive as all get out to the chickens, and were also downright abusive on most occasions, but the chickens didn't understand what was being said and felt neither enlightened nor abused.

Such incidents led me to the conclusion that man would be much benefited if he could converse with beasts and fowls -and possibly fish, and that the individual who made this possible would be much enriched. So I sat me down with our dog, Lad, to begin my quest for fame and fortune.

Lad, a rather large gentleman of mixed parentage and agreeable disposition, gave every indication that he was ready to join in whatever enterprise I proposed, and he listened attentively as I carefully explained what I hoped to do. But outside of wagging his tail and licking my hand, he made no intelligible response to my opening gambit.

"Lad," I asked, "can you talk to me?" This truly brilliant interrogation elicited some more furious wagging and licking, but no vocal reply at all.

Now it may be, as I had heard, that animals communicate by various motions, or gestures, but I had no tail to wag and no yen for licking. If Lad disdained the form of communication I offered, I was bound and determined I would not adopt his. So I abandoned the project altogether.

We had an abundance of chickens, but I never even considered attempting any conversation with them. From what I've seen of chickens, they wouldn't have anything much to say, even if they could talk.

I wasn't the only dreamer in Mackeys. Two local farmers used to meet in Daddy's country store after supper and spend half the night - without spending any money - raising crops and livestock atop whatever counter happened to be unoccupied. They would lay out fields of corn, and tobacco, and stock peas (you call 'em whatever you like), and peanuts, and all sorts of edibles and such; they erected pig pens and pasture fences and bought tractors and harvesters and they just carried out some of the most enlightened and prosperous farming you ever heard about. The truth was, they were like everyone else during the depression. The road wasn't long enough for them to see where the next dollar was coming from, but if we had everything they ever raised on those counter tops, the world would never again experience a food shortage and there would be enough tobacco available to give every living man, woman and child six cancers apiece.

Ah well. It's something else, isn't it?

Letter To A Scottish Rite Mason

I am sure that many of us have times when we think longer and more deeply than at other times on the events we have seen transpire around us. The past few days have been such a time with me. As I sat in the silence of Centenary Methodist Church prior to services for our departed Brother Nelson Banks, I began to think what he had meant to me -not what he had meant to me in the sense of deeds or gifts, but in the matter of just being there. His presence around the Scottish Rite Temple and the example he put forth in daily living was gift enough to give me added impetus for the tasks ahead.

Then I began to think of others who have also entered into that Celestial Lodge above and what they had meant to me. I recalled the influence of Brother Charlie Midyette, Brother "Shorty" Kafer, Brother Bob Pugh, and certainly that of my father who served more than anyone else to set my feet on the paths of Freemasonry. I thought of the one great thing that each of these men had in common. They lived in their daily life what each of us is taught as we proceed through the mysteries of Masonry. Masonry was not a ritual for them, a catechism or a part to be learned; it was a way of life - a way of life that served to make each of us a little better for having had a time to walk side by side with them. From this experience with them we saw elevated into daily living all the great principles of Masonry that we so carefully instructed to learn.

Then I began to look inwardly at what I was doing to advance this beautiful system of morality clothed in allegories. I began to ask myself, "Am I doing all that I can for the course of Scottish Masonry?" Each of these men was in his own way a great light in Masonry. They were lights that served as beacons for others to follow - lights that charted a course into a standard of higher living for others to strive toward.

I have heard it said many times "we are what we live." The example we set in our daily living reflects the measure of our life. The challenge that confronts me and each of us who share in the beauty of Masonry is exactly this: Are we passing on the torch of Masonry to others who follow on behind in the same way it was passed on to us? Is this torch elevated by the way we live so that it can be seen above the crowds as it was seen in the lives of those who passed it on to us?

Yes, Brethren, the passing of each brother I have mentioned and others you may know who measure up to this standard leaves us with a sense of sorrow and loss, but also with a challenge. It is a challenge that we must respond to if this beautiful thing called Masonry is to survive as the way of life we now know.

How To Measure A Man

How does one really measure a man? I mean: what is the devise by which one really evaluates himself or others? Indeed, where does one go to determine the true assessments of a worthwhile life?

If one goes to the marketplace to find the answers, one is more often than not mislead. There is a temptation to equate acclaim with true value; to substitute approbation for substance; to assume that fame and fortune are simply other names for service and true success. It is possible to be known far and near; to be praised by all who know one; to possess much of this worlds' offerings - and still be a small individual. It need not be so; but it often is so. So, there must be something other than these things which enables one to stand up like a man.

Position does not guarantee statue. Many in high places have fallen to the lowest level of living. They have prostituted the opportunity for greatness into actualities of cowardice and littleness. Callousness and insensitivity can enter in to the extent that one becomes aware only of those things which can promote and profit himself. This need not be so; but it often is so of those who look to position as the measure of effectiveness in true living. So, our search must be elsewhere.

It would seem to me that one of the true measurements of true living is simply to put more into living than is demanded. This requires of men that they have visions that are large aspirations. Simply to go the one mile which is demanded is not sufficient. We are to go beyond; to dream the "impossible dream" and conquer the "unconquerable foe". You see, the most of the things which have been impossible for us are the things which we believed were impossible for us. In speaking of the Church, one expressed this idea quite adequately when he said "It isn't the height of the steeple that really counts; but, how high the people aspire". Translated into Masonic nomenclature "it isn't how many degrees one may have attained; but what one really sees and what really challenges one" - this is the true measure of a man.

Phillips Brooks (great preacher in Boston of many years ago) said: "No man comes to true greatness who has not felt that his life belonged to his race, and that what God gives him He gives him for mankind." Another has said: "What we are is God's gift to us; what we become is our gift to God."

Through Scottish Rite Masonry the Great Architect of the Universe has given us the pattern for effective living. What we become, through applying these lessons for the remainder of our days upon this earth is our gift back to Him - and we are the ones who profit thereby, not Him.

So, how does one measure a man? The man he is to measure is himself. He does so by truly examining his own life under the light of one's moral, spiritual, and intellectual pilgrimage toward upright living, tolerance, charity, humility and absolute serviture to the God of us all. This can be attained only by those who would lose himself for the sake of others and a better world.

I know that this kind of a life is possible, for I have seen it among my Masonic brothers (those who took Masonry seriously.) It is possible for each of us.

SO MOTE IT BE.

New Deputy Visits Enfield

Illustrious H. Lloyd Wilkerson, Deputy of the Supreme Council in North Carolina honored us with a visit during our Spring Reunion on March 24. Brother Wilkerson made himself right at home among us as he observed the degree work, engaged in conversation with many of the brethren in attendance, shared meals with us and participated in a pleasant and helpful business session with the Secretary and others. We found him to be very delightful and, needless to say, enjoyed his visit, as well as his charming wife's presence.

Our class for the reunion consisted of 29 candidates, four of whom were as courtesy for the New Bern Bodies. Our attendance was good all day and our degree teams were, as usual, excellent. It was a great re-union.

We are already looking forward to another big day: our Fall Reunion. The date . . . October 27. Please take note.

Discontented With The Valley

We have just completed a climb to the top of the mountain in the spring reunion. Men from across the state have had their lives challenged by the climb up the stairs that has made them Master of the Royal Secret.

Climbing has been for ages the symbol of man's quest for knowledge and truth. Perhaps it is because we see the peak as closer to the heaven where the source of truth, the Great Architect, resides and reigns supreme.

For those who have now viewed the beauty from the summit, who have struggled long and hard to scale those heights, life will never be the same in the valleys. For them, the light of truth will create a brighter valley. For them the plains will be smoother and their commitment to service for the brotherhood and mankind will be stronger.

Masonry has always been filled with the discontented. That is why we search for truth and light. Masonry has never been content with the conditions that enslave the masses of humanity struggling and crying to be free. We would take a world, lost in darkness and ignorance, and lead it to the light of a God of love and beauty. Masonry would point to the better way and by precept and example call a world to come and join them in showing the whole of humanity that there is a better way.

While this fraternity of which we are a part has never struck a blow in anger; it has always held up the tenets of free men in a free society. It reminds us that the Great Architect has created his children to be free and it reminds us that all of his children are entitled to those benefits that the Great Creator has placed in this world for his children. It would remind us and the world that the aspirations of father and mother for their children are not to be taken from them. It would remind the world that where men try to oppress and destroy other men, the frown of the Almighty will bring justice and freedom.

The fraternity of which we are a part is filled with the discontent of the heart because we are committed to bringing the light and freedom that we have received to all of those around us. We would always take the hand of a brother and lead him to the source of light and invite him to share with us in the enlightenment of this world. As long as darkness enshrouds a single brother, we cannot rest contentedly.

And so, my brothers, who have just ascended the mountain to discover truth, welcome to the fraternity of the discontented. Join with me in this world as we seek to alleviate suffering, eradicate ignorance, and destroy need. Join with me in shedding light upon the valleys of the earth where evil seeks to destroy good, where ignorance seeks to overcome wisdom, and where chaos seeks to destroy peace. Join with me in proclaiming by precept and example that there is a higher way that the men of earth can live. Join with me in this fraternity of discontented brothers; discontented until the Great Architect's light of love has shed its golden rays upon all of humanity.

It will not be easy for those of us who travel the higher way; yet if we remember the glory at the mountain's summit, we will never waver from the path we have chosen.

SCOTTISH RITE CLUBS

Beaufort County Scottish Rite Club

The Beaufort County Scottish Rite Club held their regular meeting Sunday, April 4, at the home of Hazel and Harmon Davis on Cedar Circle off River Road. There were only five members absent.

President William Roebuck presided and Calvin Pittman gave the invocation.

This was an outdoor cookout being held on the Davis' rear lawn. It was strictly a fellowship affair and began at four o'clock with the seafood meal being served at six o'clock. The high winds were blocked by the heavy forest surrounding the rear lawn, making the occasion a very delightful affair.

Various species of native fish were served along with boiled buttered onions, boiled buttered white potatoes, cold slaw and hushpuppies. The fish were caught and prepared by Peck Lassiter and Harmon Davis. A large pitcher of tea was placed on each patio table and various bottled drinks were served from the bar.

A table of hors d'oeuvres was placed in the center of the spacious patio consisting of a variety of finger foods and a huge bowl of boiled hardshell crabs with a choice of sauce.

Homemade cakes were furnished by several members.

Much discussion of the Club acquiring a regular place of their own was made with no decision being made.

Guests included Mrs. Lucille Jones and Whitney Gillespie, daughter of Corky and George Gillespie.

President Roebuck announced that the next regular meeting would be held at the Golden Corral in Washington, May 3rd.

Following the meeting, the Scottish Rite Bodies of New Bern called and informed the club that the 17th degree had been rescheduled and was expecting the Club to perform the degree Friday morning, April 22. A rehearsal was called for Thursday April 15 at 7 P.M. at the Temple in New Bern.

Dare Scottish Rite Club

The Dare Scottish Rite Club held a meeting and Ladies' Night on April 20, 1982 at the Dare County Shrine Club. Brother Melvin H. Basnight prepared the meal of wild duck, venison, collards, candied yams, biscuits, coffee and tea with cake and ice cream for dessert. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the meal.

At 7:00 p.m. President Robert W. Wechter, 32°, K.C.C.H., called the meeting to order. Brother Wechter welcomed the members and their ladies, and thanked Brother Basnight for preparing the meal. Brother Wechter then called on Brother Randell Holmes, 32°, to give the invocation. After the invocation, Brother Wechter introduced Mr. Herbert Bliven, a local historian. Mr. Bliven showed some slides of the county while explaining all aspects in detail. The presentation captured everyone's interest, and was especially impressive to the native Dare Countians.

After Mr. Bliven's presentation, President Wechter announced that the next meeting would be on September 13th at 7:00 p.m. at the Masonic Lodge. He invited all to attend. President Wechter

East Carteret Scottish Rite Club

The East Carteret Scottish Rite held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, April 5, 1982, 8:30 P.M. at Franklin Lodge No. 109, Beaufort, N. C. The meeting was called to order by President Richard E. Farlee, 32°, and the invocation was given by Brother Lee Roy Laney, Jr., 32°.

President Farlee announced the results of our Scottish Rite Ladies Night, sponsored by the New Bern Scottish Rite Bodies and hosted by the East Carteret Scottish Rite Club, which was held at the Carteret County Shrine Club at 7 P.M. on March 27th. A delicious supper of country style steak and all the trimmings was enjoyed by the 230 people in attendance. Of that number there were sixteen (16) prospective candidates and their wives. President Farlee, acting as Toastmaster, thanked the Carteret County Shrinettes for their wonderful effort and time in the preparation of the outstanding meal. Brother David O. Dickinson, 32°, gave the invocation, Worshipful Brother Ottis R. Jefferson, Jr., 32°. K.C.C.H., introduced the distinguished guests. Brother Lee Roy Laney, Jr., 32°, gave the address of welcome. The introduction of the guest speaker was handled by Brother Harold H. Rolison, 32°. The guest speaker, James W.H. Roberts, 32°, K.C.C.H., gave a most enlightening and inspiring talk on "Masons, the Bulwark of Freedom and Education." His talk, laced with humor, was most favorably received and enjoyed by all in attendance. Brother Harold H. Rolison gave the benediction and the rest of the evening was spent in fellowship. We came away from this event with a feeling of high optimism that this would truly be one of our best reunions.

After this report to the brethren, President Farlee announced that Worshipful Brother Ottis R. Jefferson, Jr., 32°, K.C.C.H., had been appointed as an Assistant Director of the Work of the New Bern Scottish Rite Bodies. It was wholeheartedly agreed that this is a well deserved honor and one that has been a long time coming. Worshipful Brother Ottis has earned many honors and titles in his faithful years in Masonry, not the least of which is his renown abilities as a devout ritualist in the Blue Lodge, the Scottish Rite and the Shrine.

On Monday evening, May 3, 1982, 8:30 P.M., the East Carteret Scottish Rite Club held its regular meeting at Franklin Lodge No. 109, Beaufort, N. C. The meeting was called to order by President Richard E. Farlee, 32°, and the invocation was given by Worshipful Brother Bonnie Piner, 32°.

President Farlee proudly announced the results of all of the work and efforts expended towards making "The Next Reunion" a resounding success and when he finished there was no doubt in the minds of the brethren that it truly was. The class consisted of one hundred and fifty-one candidates, however, the amazing fact was that of that number, twenty-two were from Carteret County, with nineteen of them being supplied by the East Carteret Scottish Rite Club. This was a tribute to the labors and dedication of the K.C.C.H.'s, Ambassadors and other dedicated members, to go the extra mile, to insure that this reunion would truly be an outstanding tribute to the memory of our late Most Worshipful Grand Master and Past Director of the Work, Nelson B. Banks. It was said that this was the largest class in the Spring since the 200 Reunion. Thanks to the untiring efforts of Worshipful Brother Ottis R. Jefferson, Jr., 32°, K.C.C.H., as one of the two newly appointed Assistant Directors of the Work, all of the degree work was flawless and none had to be communicated.

Brother Lee Roy Laney, Jr., 32°, reminded the brethren in attendance, that for various reasons, some of the Master Masons who had planned to attend this reunion, had to for different reasons pass up this reunion. He suggested that the most successful way to secure the candidates and insure another great reunion in the Fall was to talk Scottish Rite Masonry to them the year around. Keep reminding them of this most moving experience and encourage them at the proper time to join their Brother Master Masons who have already received this great honor and enriching experience.

There were 40 members present and several of them gave a short talk on their joy at having attended the reunion. Some comments were made on just how much their wives enjoyed and appreciated being included in this event. It took three busses to accommodate them on the tours which had been planned for them. Most of all, being able to sit with their husbands at the Awards Night impressed them. The wives participating is growing more and more each year and their enthusiasm surely encourages their husbands to become better and more dedicated Scottish Rite Masons.

The benediction was given by Brother Harold H. Rolison, 32°. With no further business to be conducted the brethren retired to the dining hall where refreshments and glorious fellowship were enjoyed by one and all.

Lee Roy Laney, Jr., 32°

Area Meeting of Clubs For Ladies Night Party

Charlie Potter, 33°, was the guest speaker at a Scottish Rite Ladies Night Party held at the Holiday Inn, Thursday night in Williamston. This was an area meeting including Martin, Washington and Beaufort Counties.

Brother Potter spoke on "Our Masonic Heritage" and referred to the pioneer stock of the greatest land in the world. He admonished those present to think back to the Craft that built King Solomon's Temple, where the Masonic Order originated when he asked, "What about us? Leave a heritage to those who follow." The speaker compared our morals of today with those of the 32 degrees of Scottish Rite Masonry, then asked, "What are you contributing to the Masonic Fraternity?"

The speaker was introduced by Walter D. Parrish. The Toastmaster was John (Jimmie) Gilreath. Invocation was given by Benjamin J. Hopkins and H. Gordon Hopkins gave the address of welcome. William A. Roebuck recognized the special guests.

Jack Roper, a magician, kept the crowd in laughter with his audience participating magical antics.

Edward Ray Edwards gave the benediction.

Notes to the Editor

Dear Brother Potter:

You don't know how much my 50 year Scottish Rite pin means to me. I surely am proud that I lived long enough to receive it. I surely do appreciate it and I am going to enjoy wearing it. I wish I had been able to be there to receive it personally.

in such a thoughtful way,
It's hard to find a way to thank each one of you today,
But hopefully, this special card

The many warm and grateful thoughts this brings straight from the heart.

To the Members of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and to thank you for the hospitality you extended to me and the rest of the wives of the recent candidates for the Scottish Rite degrees.

I truly had a marvelous time and enjoyed every minute I was there, and I know I speak also for the rest of the wives there.

I happened to be on the van whose keys got locked inside and Mr. Haddock got a ribbing from us, but it was the highlight of our day.

Again, thank you very much.

The words "Thank you" seem so small for such an experience as the three days spent in New Bern. The tours were so good. Living close to each town you would think I had toured them, but like many, you put it off until later. Texasgulf was a great treat. You can't imagine how such an operation works.

I want to express a special "thank you" to the Eastern Star. The meals were delicious, the tables beautiful. One thing really impressed me . . . no matter how tired the ladies were, they always had a smile on their face as they served the food. They're Great Women!

It was stated many times this was the first year the ladies ate with their husbands. Well, I hope this will not be the last year. After going to a new place with new faces, it was delightful to be escorted in at dinner by your husband. I think I share the same feelings as the rest of the wives. It felt good to be the first to experience this.

Stephen and I have received a warm feeling from one of your Ambassadors, Charlie Goodwin. I know that all the men are as good as Charlie. I am thankful for men like him. He has been a great inspiration to Stephen. It has not mattered what day or hour Stephen calls, Charlie has come to him. It is great to have good friends.

As a wife of a Mason there is a lot I don't know, but I do know there are fine people in the Masonic Lodge and now the Scottish Rite. Mr. Roy Haddock and Mrs. Minnie Ray West are two of them. They have been such a joy. I don't know their age in years, but in mind they are extremely young. I know Mr. Haddock has a problem with keys and directions, but with so many women to look after, what man wouldn't have a lapse of memory. God bless them both!

Thank you for all these experiences and many more. I will never forget them. I am looking forward to many more growing pains in Stephen's Masonic years.

Sincerely,
